

Governor Denies Clemency to Mrs. Snyder and Gray

Her Anxious Study We Find No Reason to Halt Dual Executions—Lawyer Discovers New Motive—Mrs. Snyder and Gray in Good Health.

New York, Jan. 11 (AP).—Denied clemency from Governor Charles S. Smith, Mrs. Ruth Snyder and Henry Judd Gray apparently are headed to die in the electric chair at Sing Sing tomorrow night.

Governor Smith definitely blasted the hopes of intervention on his part in a statement given out from his temporary offices at the Hotel Biltmore. It read:

"In the matter of the application for executive clemency for Ruth Snyder and Henry Judd Gray, this case has received my anxious consideration, not merely since the hearing before me upon the application for executive clemency, but ever since the court of appeals unanimously affirmed the conviction of the defendants.

"The execution of this judgment on a woman is so distressing that I had hoped that the appeal to me for executive clemency would disclose some fact which would justify my interference with the processes of law. But this did not happen. I have searched in vain for any basis, which my conscience in the light of my oath of office will approve, on which I might temper the law with mercy.

"Up to this writing there is no explanation shown for what the seven judges of the court of appeals, in agreement with the twelve jurors and the trial judge, have found to be a deliberate and premeditated murder committed by these defendants.

"The application for executive clemency is therefore denied."

The governor, throughout the reading of his statement, had before him on his desk a letter from Mrs. Isabelle Gray asking that the life of her husband be spared so that their ten-year-old daughter would not carry the stigma through life.

Thousands of letters bearing on the case had been received at the executive offices, but it was understood that from Mrs. Gray was the only one of which the governor took any cognizance.

Last minute court moves to obtain a stay of execution continued to be played by counsel for the two prisoners as the hour approached for their execution.

Dissent New Move.

Edgar P. Hazleton, chief of Mrs. Snyder's counsel, called a conference of his associates for today to discuss further legal moves. A difference of opinion had developed between Hazleton and Joseph L. Bonomo as to what further steps should be taken.

Samuel L. Miller, Gray's attorney, announced he would file a petition in the Supreme court in Queens county for a stay on the ground of newly discovered evidence. The nature of which he refused to divulge. If that move failed, he said it would apply to the federal courts for a writ of habeas corpus on the ground that his client's constitutional rights had been invaded by the joint trial with Mrs. Snyder.

Word of the governor's decision, unless conveyed by their attorneys or relatives, will be kept from the condemned, Warden Lewis E. Lewis said. Their first intimation, so far as prison officials are concerned, he said, will come with the appearance of guards who will lead them to the death chair.

Mrs. Snyder, expressing the belief that "there is still time for something good to happen," spent the day in bed.

Mrs. Agnes McKernan, ensign and prison secretary of the Salvation Army, called at the prison with a heart order permitting her to visit the woman, but she arrived after visiting hours and was told she must present herself again today.

She came in answer to an appeal from Mrs. Snyder who wrote her saying "Do try, won't you, to come to see I would love to see you soon."

Talks With Wife.

Gray spent the forenoon talking with his wife, whom he saw for the third time since his arrest. She arrived in automobile from Norwalk, Conn., and in accordance with her request, was permitted to enter and depart by a rear gate in order to avoid newspapermen.

Later Gray saw his mother and the Rev. Dr. Anthony Peterson, a Protestant clergyman of Scarborough.

In a written request to the warden, Gray directed that the $21 he has to his credit in the prison office be spent for the benefit of the ten inmates of the death house. He asked that $15 be spent to provide a special dinner for the prisoners and the balance of $6 be given to Dixie Baldwin, penniless negro awaiting death by killing a man in Steuben county. The money, he said, should be spent for cigarettes and other comforts for the man "who hasn't anyone to help him."

Gray has already made a will giving his insurance and personal effects to his daughter, Jane.

Both Mrs. Snyder and Gray were said at the prison to be in good health.

Experts to Visit Scene of Tragedy

Hopes to Gather Enough Data to Determine Cause of Crash, Whether Due to Fault of Machine, Pilot or Bad Weather.

Fonda, N. Y., Jan. 11 (AP).—A little group of airplane experts and divers assembled here today preparatory to a visit to the spot eight miles to the southwest where on Sunday three men were killed when their plane, intended for use in the air mail service, crashed into a fog-obscured hillside. From the shattered remnants of the ill-fated craft and the furrowed ground over which it ran the members of the party hoped to reconstruct the last moments of the plane in enough detail to determine the cause of the tragedy—whether it was due to a fault in the machine, to the pilot, or to the admittedly bad weather conditions at the time.

Heading the group was W. B. Jones, an aviation inspector of the United States Department of Commerce, who arrived early today from Washington to join with representatives of the Fairchild Airplane Manufacturing Corporation, builder of the plane, in conducting the inquiry. Robert Simon, chief test pilot and manager of the Fairchild Corporation, reached here last night. With him were Richard Pears, manager of New York city and Lieutenant Edward M. Rennie of Buffalo, representing the Colonial Western Airways Company, operator of the Cleveland-Buffalo air mail route on which the plane was to have been placed.

While the investigating group prepared to reconstruct the details of the crash, the bodies of the three victims of the accident, Pilot Raymond Henry of Buffalo, Captain Edward M. Pauley of Albany, and George F. Benedict of Peoria, Ill., lay in undertaking establishments at Canajoharie, to which they were removed from the twisted wreckage of the plane, which had rested for forty hours on the hillside but a few hundred yards from the nearest road and farmhouse.

Recover 6 More Bodies from S-4

Total Bodies Recovered From Sunk Submarine, Now Number 23—Diver Locates Another Body.

Provincetown, Mass., Jan. 11 (AP).—The bodies of six more of the submarine S-4's crew were recovered this morning in the motor compartment by Divers Thomas Campbell and Frank Crilly. These brought the total recovered to 23.

Campbell and Crilly descended from the minesweeper Falcon at 9:30 o'clock this morning, the former entering the sunken submarine through the motor compartment hatch. Crilly remained outside of the submarine.

Campbell found two bodies almost directly under the hatch. After he had passed them up to Crilly, he made his way aft and found four more. These were also passed up to Crilly.

Campbell then located a seventh body but was notified that his time was up and with Crilly was ordered to come to the surface.

When the first two divers returned to the Falcon, Thomas Eadie and William Carr were preparing to descend.

The six bodies recovered today were dressed in dungarees indicating that they were enlisted men. Two of them wore blue sweaters. The bodies were in good condition, the divers said, considering the 25 days they had been in the sunken submarine.

The six bodies, as well as any others recovered later in the day, will be placed on the destroyer Mahan, expected here this afternoon, and taken to Boston, officers directing the salvage work said.

They pointed out that 24 bodies, including the one Campbell saw but did not remove, had been accounted for. Six of the 40 victims died in the torpedo room, leaving ten others either in the motor compartment or the battery room. If any of the ten were in the motor compartment they would be recovered immediately it was said. The six bodies in the torpedo compartment and those in the battery room, however, will not be removed until the submarine has been raised and placed in dry dock. Rear Admiral Frank E. Drumby, salvage commander, declared.

Chamberlin Off On New Flight

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., Jan. 11 (AP).—Clarence D. Chamberlin, New York to Germany flier, and Roger Q. Williams took off at 12:13 o'clock today in an attempt to establish a new duration and "closed circuit" distance flight record.

They expected to exceed the present duration record of 53 hours, 22 minutes and 21 seconds and by flying to some distant city and back to establish a new "closed circuit" distance record of 2,800 miles.

Their ship is a Bellanca monoplane similar in many respects to the "Columbia" in which Chamberlin and Levine made their transatlantic flight last summer.

Wilbur's Reasons For $725,000,000 Warship Program

House Naval Committee Also Hears Report of the Navy General Board Stressing Importance of America's Need For a First Class Navy.

Washington, Jan. 11 (AP).—Stressing his own belief that "America needs a first class navy," Secretary Wilbur placed today before the House naval committee both his personal reasons and those of the navy general board for asking Congress to authorize a $725,000,000 new warship construction program.

"In the preparation of this program the general board has primarily considered the need of this government for its naval defense," he said. "It is true that in determining this need the general board at all times has taken into consideration the condition of other navies and the construction and replacement program so far as they are known to us."

"Future wars must be fought largely by vessels already completed at the beginning of the war," Great Britain announced at the Geneva conference that she needed about 600,000 tons of vessels of the cruiser class. Our original proposal at Geneva was for cruiser tonnage of between 250,000 and 300,000 tons, a tonnage less than we felt necessary for our fleet. We were willing to accept the hazard of building less tonnage than we needed if the other powers would accept similar hazards.

"Great Britain was not willing to accept this limitation but felt her needs for the larger tonnage of cruisers she proposed to be imperative for the protection of her national interests."

"The insistence of Great Britain and of her naval experts and of her delegates at the Geneva conference upon her absolute need for a larger tonnage of cruisers, regardless of the naval program of other powers, is most persuasive evidence that we have also a definite need for cruiser tonnage, regardless of the program of other powers. If we are to have a well-rounded fleet for our defense, and also that such a program for us is in no sense competitive."

Not Competitive Building.

The secretary said that the program proposing construction of 25 cruisers, five aircraft carriers, nine destroyers, leaders and 32 submarines was "in no sense competitive but is based upon the needs of our navy as is determined by the secretary of the navy upon the technical advice of the general board."

"The president is opposed to competitive building," he continued. "Congress has also manifested its willingness to engage in competitive building."

"We do not ask you to build a certain number of tons of each type of vessel for the reason that Great Britain has that number of tons or because to do so would bring us up to a parity with Great Britain, nor do we ask you to construct a certain amount of tonnage in order that we may be on a 5-3 ratio with Japan."

General Board's Report.

"The general board has advised the secretary of the navy as follows: 'The program proposed, if carried out, will create a properly constituted fleet, will furnish sufficient strength to insure the protection of the legal rights of our citizens under international law, provide refuge in time of disorder, protect commerce, preserve our ocean routes of trade, and provide adequate national defense.'

"We have not such a fleet at the present time. Each postponement of the undertaking of essential new construction increases the already pronounced inadequacy still further into the future."

"Delay in building up the fleet to the standard of its requirements deprives the country of an adequate national defense for a period of years, and will entail extraordinary financial burdens in future years. Prompt adoption of the program proposed will result in a fleet adequate for national defense and will avoid excessive peak loads in future financial demands."

The general board's report called attention to what it said was the need of maintaining a shipbuilding industry and added that "lack of modern cruisers is very serious and constitutes the navy's greatest weakness today."

"Every war game, whether played at the war college or carried out in practice on the high seas," the board's report continued, "emphasizes the need for an increased number of vessels of this type. Their duties in peace are of a wide variety, not the least of which is aid to our overseas trade. Our merchants and manufacturers must not only hold the foreign markets we have gained, but as European conditions return to normal we must ever seek new markets for their output, if our prosperity is to continue."

"Showing the flag has a very marked influence upon their endeavor, and the measure of their success is influenced in no small degree by the prestige which up-to-date and smart modern cruisers create and foster."

The Price of Potatoes.

In the advertisement of the Boston stores in Tuesday's Freeman it was inadvertently stated that potatoes were selling at 35 cents a pound. What the advertisement should have stated was that potatoes, good eaters, sold for 25 cents a peck. There are two Boston stores in the city, one at 293 Foxhall avenue and the other at 83 St. James street.

19 Yale Students' Hearing Deferred

Court Set January 21 When Charges of Passing Out Handbills Concerning Conditions in Neckwear Industry Will Be Heard.

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 11 (AP).—Time being needed to prepare their cases, both prosecutor and defense attorney today secured postponement in city court of the hearing for nineteen Yale students arrested last night charged with violating a city ordinance prohibiting distribution of handbills of an advertising nature. The subject matter of the bills had to do with a labor disagreement.

Court set January 21 as the time for a hearing and Assistant City Attorney Nelson R. Durant, and Philip Troup for the students, each expressed belief that they would be ready at that time.

No further reference to the students' cases was made to Judge Stanley Dunn, and only a few of the defendants appeared to be among the spectators. All arrested were bailed out last night.

The students, seven of whom were members of the divinity school, were arrested last night while passing out pamphlets to the general public concerning conditions in the neckwear industry. The pamphlets were headed: "Is This Fair Play?"

Yale students have been aiding efforts to unionize necktie makers but the pamphlets gave both sides of the matter, without directly urging unionization. A city ordinance forbids distribution of handbills.

Two New York neckwear manufacturing firms, Stern and Merritt, and Berkman and Adler, moved their plants to New Haven last September when they found the terms of the union workers' contract drawn on September 1, disagreeable to them.

Since the two firms moved to this city, the union has been desirous of forming a branch here and enlisted the aid of the Liberal Club of Yale to that end. Members of the Liberal Club took up the case of the union and have from time to time arranged meetings at which the neckwear workers here were addressed by labor leaders.

The distribution of the pamphlets last night followed a survey of the neckwear situation made by three students, George Brooks, Frederick C. Hyde and J. B. Whitelaw.

The pamphlets, which gave as their purpose to "give one unacquainted with the neckwear situation in New Haven a brief summary of the case," were said by the students to have been submitted to Dean Clarence R. Mendell of Yale College, who approved them. The students also claimed to have been advised by Mrs. Leon Tulin, who before her marriage to Prof. Tulin was Miss Justine Wise, an active worker in the Passaic strikes and the daughter of Rabbi Stephen S. Wise.

Gray Calm, Widow Is Unreconciled

Ossining, N. Y., Jan. 11 (AP).—The breakfasts ordered today by Mrs. Ruth Snyder and Henry Judd Gray were cited by prison attendants as an indication of the different ways in which the two prisoners are facing imminent death.

Calm and apparently resigned, Gray ate toast and coffee and a large bowl of cooked cereal, but Mrs. Snyder, still unreconciled, merely sipped a small glass of orange juice, refusing all solid food.

Warden Lewis said that neither of the prisoners had read the morning papers and had not yet learned that Governor Smith had denied their plea for a stay of execution. The warden added, however, that both sensed the fact that the Governor would not intervene to save them.

"They have no great hopes," he said, "so when they do hear about the denial of clemency it will not come as a great shock to them."

It was learned today that Dr. George W. Kirchway, former dean of Columbia University law school and former warden of Sing Sing prison, had conferred with other officials of the society for the abolition of capital punishment as to whether any action should be taken in connection with the Snyder-Gray case and that it had been decided to take none. It was explained that the society felt that it was concerned solely with a principle not with any persons.

Lewis said that he had received a dozen letters from people who offered to die in the stead of Mrs. Snyder and Gray. The writers were all characterized by the warden as "cranks."

Dr. Rancour Now Police Surgeon

Dr. L. R. Rancour of 358 Broadway has been appointed police surgeon of the police department, succeeding Dr. John F. Larkin.

The appointment was made by the board of police commissioners at its recent meeting.

At the annual meeting of the Universal Road Machinery Co., Inc., the stockholders elected the following as directors: Jacob Rice, C. R. O'Connor, A. B. Shufeldt, E. H. Bogart, R. Rowley, C. E. Powell, W. G. Merritt. The inspectors of election were Leona Van Demark and Lila Randall.

Merchants Find Buyers Eager for Cooperative Sale

Practically All Members of Kingston Uptown Merchants' Association Participating in Sale Which Opened Today and Continues Ten Days—Stores and Streets Filled With Shoppers.

The Kingston Merchants' Cooperative Sale opened this morning and will continue for ten days. In the sale practically all of the members of the Kingston Uptown Merchants' Association are cooperating and merchandise of all kinds is being offered at substantial reductions during the sale.

Advertised as "one big sale," the merchants found that "in union there is strength" and the cooperative sale plan again went over big on the opening day. Early in the morning the streets were well filled with shoppers who went from store to store purchasing their needs. Instead of one firm participating and one line of merchandise being offered at clearance prices, they found that all lines of business were cooperating in the "one big sale," making it easy to shop and easy to fill their needs whether for one line of merchandise or several.

The cooperative sales idea with all lines of merchandise being offered during the ten day sales period, brought out a great many people from surrounding districts in the opening day and early the streets were lined with cars and the parking places began to fill early. Many of the stores were comfortably filled with shoppers and in some extra clerks were in attendance to facilitate buying and to give the best service possible to the public.

By noon the stores were busy and the merchants, anticipating an unusual volume of business during the next ten days, are taking steps to serve the shopping public with the least possible delay.

Stocks have been replenished after the holiday season trade and during the entire ten days period of the sale there will be specials offered in many lines in addition to the reductions made on other lines to clear the shelves and make way for the spring merchandise.

POLICE DRIVE CHINESE BACK TO BURNING LINER

Jersey City, N. J., Jan. 11 (AP).—Chinese members of the crew of the Dollar liner President Polk attempted to fight their way ashore with their baggage when fire broke out in a cargo of crude rubber in the liner's hold early today.

The President Polk returned Tuesday from a cruise around the world. The fire, extinguished after five hours, was confined to the holds. The ship carried a Chinese crew of more than 100 men in addition to a white crew of between 40 and 50. Captain J. K. Lowrey had given the Chinese permission to go on the dock providing they did not take their belongings. The men, however, disregarded his order and started carrying their belongings ashore. Alexander Arduway, the ship's quartermaster, was severely beaten when he attempted to stop them. The Chinese finally were driven back to their quarters by four policemen armed with clubs.

A federal law provides a fine on a steamship line if a Chinese member of a crew deserts and enters the country illegally.

WEAR LOW HEELED SHOES FOR NICELY SHAPED KNEES

Philadelphia, Jan. 11 (AP).—If you would have nicely shaped knees don't wear high heeled shoes.

That's the advice handed to women and girls for their welfare by pediatricians, who of all persons should know. The Philadelphia Pediatric Society was told last night by Dr. J. Torrance Rugh that the wearing of high heeled shoes causes the foot to assume an unnatural position with the result that the muscles and bones are thrown out of balance. When that happens, he declared, the knees become less stable, the knee action becomes such less secure and fatigue results.

Knock knees are incurable, though, and there is no hope for correction.

LINDBERGH WILL VISIT PORTO RICO

San Juan, Porto Rico, Jan. 11 (AP).—Governor Toomer today received a message from Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh in Panama accepting with pleasure an invitation to visit Porto Rico en route to the Pan-American conference at Havana.

The message from the American flier said that he would advise the governor of the date of his arrival.

PRESIDENT COSGRAVE SAILS FOR AMERICA.

Southampton, Jan. 11 (AP).—President William T. Cosgrave, of the Irish Free State, and his party sailed for a visit to the United States today aboard the steamship Homeric.

The president plans to spend about ten days in America, including a side trip into Canada. The visit has been described in Dublin as purely one of courtesy.

Hickman Plays Dual Character

Indicted Slayer of Marian Parker Ignores Three Prosecuting Attorneys Who Sought to Question Him in Jail.

Los Angeles, Jan. 11 (AP).—William Edward Hickman, confessed and indicted slayer of Marian Parker, has demonstrated that he intends to maintain a dual character so far as attorneys are concerned.

"The Fox" of the kidnapping and slaying case yesterday ignored three prosecuting attorneys who sought to question him at the county jail.

A few hours later he was all smiles when visited by Dr. J. W. Fottis, Sioux City, Iowa, physician, the first of the probable expert witnesses of the insanity defense.

On his return to his cell he told jailers he would not permit himself to be examined by any state's specialists unless his attorney and his own psychiatrists were present.

Before the doctor's arrival Hickman had been reading a letter purporting to come from an "Andrew Cramer" of New York, who assumed, in the missive, the entire blame for the slaying of the Los Angeles school girl.

"That guy's crazier than I am," was his smiling comment.

Hickman's first confession shouldered the blame for the killing on an "Andrew Cramer," who, he later admitted, was a hgment of his imagination.

Wesley Hunt, Hickman's 16-year-old accomplice in the holdup of a Roschill drug store on Christmas Eve, 1926, which resulted in a gun battle in which C. Ivy Thoms, the druggist, was fatally wounded, entered a plea of not guilty yesterday to an indictment jointly charging him and Hickman with the murder.

Sheriff's officers placed little stock in testimony given by a girl witness in a murder trial yesterday indicating that Hickman might have been involved in another drug store hold-up killing. The witness in the trial of three men accused of murdering A. V. Miles, the druggist, said Miles' slayer looked more like Hickman than one of the three defendants.

Milkman May Lose His License

Charged With Selling Raw Milk for Pasteurized and Vice Versa—Matter Being Investigated by Health Board and May Lead to Revocation of License.

Milk was the principal topic discussed at the meeting of the board of health Tuesday evening at the Central Fire Station and resulted in a special committee being appointed to interpret such parts of the new state milk code as need local interpretation. This committee will later report back to the board on what action it had taken. The members of the special committee appointed by Mayor E. J. Dempsey are Dr. Frederick Holcomb, Dr. Fred Huhne and Mrs. Thomas J. Hickey, who will meet with Dr. Daniel Connelly, health officer, and Dr. Harold Clarke, food inspector, to study the new state code which goes into effect the first of July.

Dr. Clarke also brought to the attention of the board complaints he had received regarding a certain retail milk dealer, whose name was not mentioned, and who is charged with fooling his customers by supplying them with raw milk when they order pasteurized milk, and vice versa. The health board officials are working on the case and the board voted to leave the entire matter in the hands of Dr. Connelly and Dr. Clarke to take what action was deemed necessary.

In response to a question by Mrs. Hickey as to what could be done to the milkman, Dr. Clarke replied that the health officer had the power to revoke his license to handle and sell milk if the charges were proven true.

The reports of the officers of the board for the work accomplished during 1927 were read, approved and filed.

Bills and claims were read and audited and the board then adjourned.

Kolts Is Head Of Fire Board

At the annual meeting of the board of fire commissioners held Tuesday evening at the Central Fire Station, Louis Kolts was elected president of the board. The board also reappointed Andrew J. Murphy, Sr., as secretary of the board at a salary of $360 per year. The members of the fire board are Commissioners Kolts, David Burgerin and Harry Walker.

Health Conditions Here During 1927 Very Satisfactory

The annual report of Dr. Daniel Connelly, city health officer, submitted to the board of health Tuesday evening, showed that there had been 379 communicable diseases reported in Kingston during 1927 as against 1,429 in 1926. The large number of cases in 1926, however, was due to the epidemic of measles. Dr. Connelly gave a very interesting report of what had been accomplished to better health conditions here and spoke at some length on the campaign to wipe out diphtheria which is being carried on in the city.

The reports of the health officer as well as the other officers of the board showing the work accomplished during the past year follows:

Diphtheria anti-toxin is the outstanding contribution of medical science to curative medicine. Although anti-toxin was discovered over twenty-five years ago and has been used throughout the civilized world for a quarter of a century, the number of children who became infected with the disease has diminished little during that period. About a decade ago the medical profession began to realize that if the world is to be rid of this scourge to children reliance must be placed on preventive rather than a curative measure. Scientists discovered that minute doses of diphtheria toxin guarded by correctly balanced doses of anti-toxin and given in three successive doses at intervals of a week produced an active enduring immunity. In 1900 the death rate from diphtheria in the registration area of the United States was 43.3 per hundred thousand. In 1924 it had dropped to 9.4 per hundred thousand. Statistics show that the greatest number of deaths occur in children between the ages of six months and five years, but the greatest number of cases occur between the five to ten years group. Toxin-antitoxin placed in the hands of physicians gives an adequate defense against the disease. Hence by the use of toxin-antitoxin the alphas for New York state is "No Diphtheria in New York State by 1930." It begins to look as if this goal might be reached and we are determined it shall be reached in our city, but we must have the cooperation of parents. In Kingston during 1927 the number of children immunized against diphtheria totaled 2,200, of these 676 were between the ages of six months to four years, 920 between five and nine years, 566 between 10 and 14 years, 15 years and over, 38. There are at least that number of children still unprotected and susceptible to the disease. In spite of all the preventive work one child died during the year of diphtheria and there were in all five cases reported. Parents are urged and advised to have their children protected by toxin-antitoxin and assist the health officer in his efforts to eradicate this disease. The health work of a city is judged by the number of cases of communicable diseases, especially typhoid fever, and the infant mortality rate. During 1927 there were six cases of typhoid fever reported. Four of these were non-resident brought to local hospitals for treatment. There were no deaths. This is the lowest case rate covering a period of ten years. Infant mortality for 1927 is 67.7 compared with 69.8 for 1926 showing a decrease. This is unquestionably due to the pure supply of milk, water and to health education. The mortality rates from all other communicable diseases is exceptionally low.

The year 1927 saw the modified milk regulations as adopted by the board in full effect. During the first quarter of the year bacterial counts were as a whole very satisfactory. However, with the advent of the warm weather in many instances the number of bacteria mounted unduly so that much work was necessitated in order to aid in the production of better milk. With the splendid cooperation of the laboratory in each case the cause of the high count was found and the trouble eliminated. There was a great deal of tuberculin testing done throughout the county which included a large share of the Kingston milk shed. This caused many producers to make application for a change in the gradation of their farms so that a larger number of single farm inspections were made this year than ever before. The routine inspections were made as usual. Comparison of the quality of milk as sold in Kingston with that sold throughout the state tends to show this city in a very favorable position. The trend of general public opinion seems divided between the raw city and pasteurized products, so it would seem that the decision of the board to maintain a high standard for both has met with approval. Because of the number of farms having tuberculin tests, as mentioned above, the condition of the cattle at the local abattoirs has been very good. Practically all reactors were slaughtered at one of the plants near New York city. Inspection of fowl and canned goods has taken considerable time. The matter of disposition of the garbage refuse of the city is still a difficult one. Several times acute embarrassment was caused through inability to secure sufficient disposal facilities. So many houses are now sheltering two families, so many

In Memoriam.
Jacob H. Aley, appointed patrolman May 27th, 1922, died June 20th, 1927.

To the Honorable Board of Police Commissioners of the City of Kingston, N. Y.

I beg to submit to you the 36th annual report of the business of the police department for the year 1927, with detail information in statistical form and a study in brief of our material progress.

Historical.

The Kingston Police Department was organized May 15, 1891. On that day the board of police commissioners presided over by our honored citizen, ex-Mayor John E. Kraft, founded a small force consisting of a chief of police, two detective sergeants, seven policemen and four police constables.

The force was to work with zeal and soon expanded to the citizens of Kingston their usefulness. Various additions and substitutions were made in the force from time to time. With these exceptions the arrangement of the organization is practically the same today, the force consisting of a chief of police, two detective sergeants and twenty-five patrolmen, a force scarcely adequate to properly police a city which has grown from a population of 21,000 to a city of thirty odd thousand population with its present day problems. Two vacancies exist in the force by reason of the death of Patrolman Jacob H. Aley on June 20, and the retirement of Patrolman Frederick J. Fout. During the time mentioned the personnel of the entire force changed. Many of the older members have passed on, but a few are still active citizens and retired members of this department.

The aim of the force since its organization has been to give to the public, whom it serves, efficient police service. The service rendered during the past year measures up to the standard in this respect.

On June 4th, 1927, the city hall in which police headquarters was maintained, was discovered on fire. A large detail of police was immediately placed in service and assisted at the fire and vicinity. A detailed report of this was submitted to you in June. Headquarters was moved to our present location in the Municipal Building on East O'Reilly street, where we were fortunate to have vacant rooms. We were assisted in re-establishing headquarters by the board of public works, the New York Telephone Company and Marshall Miller, fire alarm superintendent. Here we are comfortably situated through the efforts of Mayor Dempsey and the common council.

The work of the year has been full of manifold duties many of which have required most careful attention. In some instances the force has been taxed to the limit of its strength.

The condition of the Police Pension Fund is shown herewith.

A small increase in revenue from licenses over last year furnished enough money to pay pensions for the year. Some method should be devised to keep a major portion of the principal of the fund at a higher rate of interest in order that more revenue might be derived.

Police Pension Fund.
The condition of the Police Pension Fund is shown herewith.

Police Signal System.
The Police Signal System proved its worth many times during the year. It is a valuable asset to the police department. Considerable repair work was made necessary because of changes made to the pole lines of local companies whose poles we occupy, but the cost of this work was not alarming. The total cost of maintaining the system was $567.61. A few new box stations and the extension of the system into new residential districts would give those districts better police protection.

Police Fund.
The following is a financial statement of the Police Fund for the year ending December 31, 1927.

Unexpended Revenue, January 1, 1927, brought forward from previous year $ 4,275.21

Total $67,247.29

During the year there has been received $1,082 for sundry licenses, $1,844.75 for dog licenses, $213.40 for dog census, and $157.53 for miscellaneous items all of which was applied to the Police Pension Fund to ward its support. $230 was collected for taxicab licenses and drivers' licenses. This sum was applied to the General City Fund.

331 arrests were made during the year. 44 were women. The tabulated statistics annexed hereto show the causes of arrest and disposition made. 587 vehicular accidents were recorded during the year. 192 persons were injured in these accidents and 2 were killed.

During the year 1927, this city had several celebrations and events which required a great deal of police service. The department as a whole was unusually vigilant at each event aiming to furnish ample protection to all persons. The details in each case were carefully planned to fit the occasion. I extend to the entire department my heartfelt thanks for the unwavering support, given me, for the promptness of individual members in obeying orders and for their intelligence and willingness shown in the performance of their duties.

In conclusion, I desire to extend to the Board of Police Commissioners my sincere thanks and appreciation for the uniform support and valuable assistance rendered me in performing the many exacting duties of my position and for the many courtesies shown me during the past year.

The Sandman Story

THE STORM PARTY

Martha Martin

"COME on, Mr. Freezing-Fun!"

"We were waiting for you too, Mr. Freezing-Fun!"

"And we hope you'll not be late, Mr. Freezing-Fun!"

"I want to have a storm party," Mr. Freezing-Fun said, "and I'd like to have you all come."

"Of course the Jewellers don't have to come right away. But I hope they'll come soon after the party and won't be late in taking their places in the great winter reunion."

"You all know that a reunion means a gathering together once more so we all want to gather together to show that Old Man Winter is here."

"I'm here," Old Man Winter shouted. And Mr. Wind blew through his

"We want you, of course we want you!" said King Snow.

So Prince Storm joined the party.

"And we want Mr. Freezing-Fun," Mr. King Snow added. "He is always such a fine one to have at a party."

Some creatures go to a party and never say a word and don't make the slightest effort to help have a good time.

"For those who don't get into the fun of things don't enjoy themselves either. That is only fair, of course. But it is so much nicer when they do enter into the fun of a party and enjoy it themselves and help others have a good time."

"Mr. Freezing-Fun is a splendid creature at a party."

"And we must ask Prince Sleet. Prince Sleet would help a great deal."

"I'm here," said Mr. Freezing-Fun, for Mr. Wind had offered him a free ride to the party and Mr. Freezing-Fun had accepted with great eagerness and pleasure.

"Well, well, well, this is nice to see the old friends again."

"How do you do, Snowflake children?"

"Why, hello, Old Man Winter. I might have known I would have seen you here. This is nice, ha, ha, ha, this is nice."

"And I'm powerfully pleased to see you, Mr. Freezing-Fun. I'm such an admirer of yours."

So Mr. Freezing-Fun went around greeting all his friends and they were all glad to see him, too.

Then along came Prince Sleet.

"I met some one on the way who wants to come to the party," said Prince Sleet.

"Tell me who wants to come," said King Snow.

"It's the whole Blizzard family. Old Boy Blizzard wanted to know if he could come and bring the others. He said it was the nurse's day out and there was no one with whom to leave the children if all the older ones went off, too."

"As a matter of fact I think they sent that word as an excuse to bring the whole family, but they don't mind if you know how very anxious they are to come—so long as you will let them come."

"Oh, yes," said King Snow, "have them come."

"I'll tell them they're invited," said Mr. Wind.

"Thank you kindly, thank you kindly," said King Snow.

And soon, oh so soon, the Blizzard family came and such a snow-storm and blizzard and wild time as there was at the big reunion of King Snow and of Old Man Winter and their friends!

So Old Prince Storm Accepted the Invitation.

long fingers a great cold breath of air and whistled as he said:

"Oh, it's so nice to have a reunion," said King Snow.

"Would you like me to come, too, Your Majesty?" said an icy voice and there was Prince Storm dressed in lovely jewels of icicles and a crown of little snow peaks which had been frozen into shape by Prince Sleet's friend, Mr. Freezing-Fun.

For Meditation

SEARCH FOR HAPPINESS

FAUST hears at Easter dawn the music of cathedral bells. Thoughts of the immortal life bring him no joy. With suicidal intent he presses a vial of poison to his lips. Satan appears promising him happiness if he would be his subject. Satan enabled Faust to drink deep from the cup of power, only to leave his heart adamant and his eyes like balls of steel. The world of pleasure with abundant opportunities for happiness is next offered Faust, but he retires from it, satiated, tired and disappointed with Satan defeated. Faust now decides not to live for himself, but for others. He reclaimed a wide stretch of land from the ocean, which he made into a beautiful park where artisans could rest and children play. Thus Faust discovered that happiness was found in service. "In the merging of the interest of self into the general good." Through service, Faust found his way to redemption. Margaret in shining apparel awaits him as angels bear his soul to heaven.

THE WHY of SUPERSTITIONS

By H. IRVING KING

GERANIUMS

THERE is a rather common belief in the rural districts of the United States that snakes will not go where geraniums are growing and geraniums growing in a window box will prevent flies from entering the window. This superstition attaches to the plants cultivated in gardens and as house plants, which are not geraniums at all, but belong to the genus pelargonium of South Africa. The magical qualities of this plant were transferred to it along with the name from the true geranium, the word geranium being a Greek word meaning crane's-bill, a name given to the true geranium because of the long, projecting beak of the seed capsule. In fact, crane's-bill is the common name for the true geranium.

Now the crane was for long ages a bird of mystery. At a certain season the crane disappeared and at a certain season he reappeared, always flying in a V shape. This mystery as to the crane's place and manner of breeding, and the weird dances they indulge in at the time of their love-making caused a wealth of mythology and folklore to grow up around them. It was not until 1853 that it was discovered that the crane sought the shores of the Arctic sea to lay its eggs and rear its young.

Among the ancients there was a belief that forms of plant life were in some cases transformed into forms of animal life. In the mystery which hung over the propagation of the crane the peculiar form of the seed capsule of the geranium caused it to be looked upon with suspicion, and to the plant were assigned some of the mystic attributes which pertained to the crane which was known to be antagonistic to snakes and flies. When the pelargonium came to be called in popular parlance "geranium"—crane's bill—the superstition went with the name. This is a curious example of a superstition surviving by means of a name though the name is given to an entirely different object from that by means of which the superstition had birth.

Asia Minor in a Papal Brief addressed to Prof. Walsh. Gratification for the co-operation and responsiveness of the American Catholic clergy and laity was also expressed by His Holiness in the Brief.

With the assurance of the active participation of American Catholics in the appeal this year, Prof. Walsh believes the Association can expand its activities abroad to include some of the millions of ragabond Russian boys it is estimated are now roving over Eastern Europe and the Near East. According to recent reports these youngsters constitute a real menace to society, living as they do by thieving and crime.

Memberships in the Catholic Near East Welfare Association range

THERE is no "spreading chestnut tree" for these village smithies, but there is a home, and food and clothing—things to which they have been little accustomed before.

Nomad ragabonds, the children of Syrian refugees, these boys were picked up in the streets of Bethlehem by the Catholic Near East Welfare Association, and they are now learning to become useful members of society.

Helping the destitute to help themselves is the business of the Association, which supports orphanages and trade schools similar to the Bethlehem home throughout the stricken countries of the Near East. The Bethlehem orphanage, which is pictured at the right, conducts schools in bookbinding, tailoring, shoemaking, joining and blacksmithing. For boys who are best fitted for the fields it teaches agriculture.

Yet this is but one phase of the Catholic Association's activities. During the last year it has housed and cared for thousands of wandering refugees in Palestine, Syria and Greece, apart from relief extended

Doctor Claims CAMPHOROL Stops Agency of Rheumatism

How the New Discovery Brings the Marvelous Secret of a N. J. Doctor to Every Suffering Man or Woman.

Thousands are suffering from the horrible condition, which is mostly caused by deposits in the joints. The reason for these deposits is because the blood flows more slowly, and the little spaces in these joints where the arteries end, and the veins begin, are smaller than any part of the body. Therefore, the deposits in the blood are more liable to lodge in the joints of the shoulders, elbows, wrists, knees, ankles, toes, hands, etc.

CAMPOROL, the new powerful penetrant treatment of Dr. Brigham, is really absorbed in these areas and aids the joints in driving out these deposits that cause you trouble. From the first application of CAMPOROL, you will feel a soothing, healing sensation as it penetrates the tissue, going deep into the joints, easing the trouble, stimulating circulation.

OFFICE CAT By Junius

Generally speaking a financial panic is what one is in when the installment on the car is due. A 1927 philosopher says the "happiest homes are those where the husband helps dry the dishes." It probably was for some such philosophical remark that Socrates was just and promptly forced to quaff the hemlock. Well, it's only about three months now until the opening game of the baseball season, but of course you'll have to wait nine or ten years to find out whether it was fixed or not. Students Accepted By Benedictine

On Friday evening, January 6, the twenty students of the Benedictine Training School received their diplomas. This gratifying achievement was the climax of four months of diligent study and conscientious work, and is the most solemn occurrence in the student nurses' course. The class was twelve in number, the year ever accepted.

The same evening Miss Mary Benson, the senior nurse of the hospital, received her diploma, the first of her class to complete her training. She was congratulated and given her diploma by Sister Callista, superintendent of the hospital, who sketched a few well chosen words the wonderful life of a nurse who works for the good of others and uses her training to best advantage. This made still more enthusiastic the newly accepted students, who are able to see more clearly what is ahead of them and the greatness of their accomplishment.

Refreshments were served by the sisters in the prettily decorated reception room of the Nurses' Home. The following students were accepted: Florence Rhine, Genevieve Jones, Rosemary Daly, Ruth Smith, Catherine Johnson, Madeline Hamilton, Mary Rourke, Genevieve Scannell, Mary Hughes, Genevieve Shuler, Marie Boylan, and Rita Reidy.

PLATEKILL GRANGE PLAY WILL BE INTERESTING

Tickets are going rapidly for the 2-act comedy of mystery, "Anne What's Her Name", to be presented at the Platekill Grange Hall on January 19 and 20. The prospects are that every seat will be sold for both nights and those desiring tickets should secure them at once from the ticket committee. The sale of tickets is limited to the seating capacity of the hall and there will probably be no admissions sold at the door. The play promises to be exceptionally interesting, constantly keeping the audience on its toes to see what will happen next. There is not a dull moment from start to finish and the cast are putting forth every effort to present the play at its best.

The cast follows:

A New Year Message

Just one year has passed since the new company was organized and took over the business of all of the former companies which had for many years been operated under one management and had come to be known as the Central Hudson System.

The new company was the logical outcome of the building up, through a quarter of a century, of a public utility organization to serve the public of the Central Hudson Valley, and which resulted from the cooperation of the people of this region through their financial support.

The management in announcing the consolidation to the public, pledged the organization to improved service and greater efficiencies. The record of the first year of operation shows that the benefits are all that were anticipated and are now being realized by our customers, in the form of reduced rates and better service facilities.

Beyond this, and of great interest to the public of the Central Hudson Valley, is the wide program of development that has been made possible. The growing appreciation by our customers of the many benefits of electricity in rural sections, as well as in the factories, stores and homes of our urban communities, has opened up possibilities for service not previously realized.

At the beginning of this new year of 1928 the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation welcomes its larger opportunities to assist in the development of the territory and dedicates its buildings, its equipment and its personnel to the task of supplying adequate, dependable and economic service to the people of the Central Hudson Region.

Any candidate not in attendance at the Kingston High School must bring letters of identification from their teachers together with statements of the examinations they are prepared to take and the amount of work covered in each case.

All non-resident students for preliminary subjects are to report for those examinations in Room 9 at the high school.

Watch Care

Before winding your watch after a cold snap warm it for at least a quarter of an hour; winding it immediately after exposure to cold may break the spring. During the night, the watch will run better if it is in about the same position it occupies during the day. The timepiece should be wound in the morning instead of at night. It is directly after winding that a watch works best and can thus stand the vibrations during the day. It should be wound slowly, carefully avoiding jerks. Count the number of turns the spring will allow without undue strain. These hints were recently given by a large watch manufacturer as practical ways to improve the performance of the timekeeper and prolong its life.

KEEP CHILDREN OUT OF DANGER

Father John's Medicine Overcomes Weakness and Builds Up Flesh and Strength.

Too often, little lives are sacrificed to thoughtlessness or neglect. Coughs and colds are allowed to hang on. The strain of school-days is allowed to weaken frail systems. Pale faces and thinness develop unnoticed. Then, a serious illness, and precious lives are placed needlessly in danger. Watch your little ones. See that they increase steadily in weight—that they are not affected by severe weather—that they are free of coughs and colds. If you are not satisfied with the health of any of the children, you can place complete confidence in Father John's Medicine to correct the trouble. Father John's Medicine contains the nourishing food elements which steadily rebuild wasted tissue, and which are converted by the system into new flesh and nerve force. During the past seventy years, thousands of children have gained weight steadily while taking this dependable pure food tonic. Being free of alcohol and dangerous drugs, Father John's Medicine is safe for every member of the family.

Game Taken by Ulster Hunters

Total of 35,163 Pounds of Game Taken by Hunters Whose Licenses Were Issued in Ulster County in 1925. Rabbits Head List in State and County. Albany, Jan. 11.—The amount of game taken in New York state as reported on the stubs of hunting licenses for the year 1925, the last year for which complete figures have been compiled by the Conservation Department, totaled 1,718,556 pounds, which is a gain of 126,377 over the preceding year of 1924.

Ulster County. The returns on all kinds of game reported on licenses issued in Ulster county follow. The fact that the license was issued in Ulster county does not necessarily indicate that the game was taken in this county: Cottontail rabbits, 20,113, an increase of 4,761; muskrats, 1,176, a decrease of 1,351; skunks, 2,018, an increase of 643; ducks, 671, a decrease of 85; grey squirrels, 7,087, an increase of 1,848; pheasants, 2,090, a decrease of 192; grouse or partridge, 2,215, an increase of 925; snowshoe rabbits, 270, a decrease of 64; woodcock, 652, a decrease of 41; raccoons, 444, an increase of 217; jack rabbits, 498, an increase of 214; red foxes, 242, an increase of 23; fox squirrels, 52, a decrease of 25; black squirrels, 52, an increase of 29; greater yellowlegs, 4, an increase of 4; wilson or jacksnipe, 29, an increase of 11; quail, 4, an increase of 3; mink, 105, an increase of 1; deer, 158, an increase of 113; coots, 0, a decrease of 3; grey foxes, 282, an increase of 58; rail, 0, a decrease of 23; lesser yellowlegs, 5, a decrease of 47; black-bellied plover, 4, an increase of 4; geese, 0, a decrease of 1; golden plover, 4, a decrease of 4; opossum, 6, an increase of 5; bobcats, 10, a decrease of 3; bears, 6, an increase of 3.

Total Results In State. A gain in the state is shown in the take of seventeen species and a decrease in seventeen. The deer season of 1925 was an unusually good one, and reports received by the department from the protective force in the fall of 1927 showed the deer to be in good condition and abundant in numbers. For the first time in several years the take of skunks has increased. The take in 1919 was 213,085 and declined steadily each year after that.

at the rate of about seven thousand per year, but the year 1925 shows a gain over 1924 of 11,244, the number of skunks taken in 1925 being reported as 197,316, while the number taken in 1924 was only 99,972. The take of pheasants has continued to increase, the 1925 reports showing 156,362 taken that year, which is a gain of 26,219 over 1924. During the year just ended a new game bird farm was put in operation which makes four at the present time, and the department is receiving such excellent cooperation from game clubs and individuals in raising the young pheasants from eggs which are distributed, that a greater percentage of healthy young birds for distribution is the result.

Operation Has "Reformed" Lyle

New York, Jan. 11/34.—The surgeon's knife was credited today with having "reformed" Edward D. Lyle, 28-years old, who was indicted almost a year ago for first degree robbery and assault.

After undergoing an operation for sinus trouble, another for the removal of his tonsils, the extraction of five abscessed teeth, treatment for intestinal trouble and abnormal blood pressure, Lyle was permitted to plead guilty to a charge of petit larceny. He was remanded for sentence January 29, and may receive a suspended sentence.

Lyle, a Staten Island insurance broker, was arrested for stealing at the point of a gun a $2,000 automobile from a demonstrator. When arraigned in court he was accompanied by two physicians, Dr. William B. Fitchard, an alienist for the prosecution in the trial of Harry K. Thaw, and Dr. John McCoy. They testified that a sinus trouble had caused partial cessation of the blood circulation in Lyle's brain, resulting in irrepressible criminal tendencies.

LEGION DRUM CORPS RESUMES REHEARSALS

The American Legion drum corps under the guidance of Major James Pierce and Howard Smith is making fine progress. After a rest during the holiday period the members met again on Monday evening and started to practice with renewed enthusiasm. At the meeting held Monday evening it was announced that a bid had been solicited from one of the local fire companies to head their company in the parade during the firemen's convention which will be held here next June.

There are a few of the members who showed a desire to play in the corps but have not as yet taken an active part in the rehearsals. The sergeants of each set of instruments were instructed to get in touch with the delinquent ones and see that they are present for practice on Monday nights.

The boys are holding boxing bouts once a month in the armory to secure money with which to purchase uniforms in the spring. They have all the necessary instruments to equip the corps.

Any member of the legion who would like to get in the corps should come to the building on Monday night when practice is held.

POULTRY FACTS

GROUND WHEAT IS GOOD FOR LAYERS

Poultrymen with home-grown wheat can often use ground wheat in the laying mash with good results. It saves buying bran and middlings. The best results come from substituting 150 pounds of ground wheat and 50 pounds of bran for the 100 pounds of bran, plus 100 pounds of middlings. A good home-grown laying mash can be made of 100 pounds of ground corn, 100 pounds of ground oats, 150 pounds of ground wheat, 50 pounds of bran, and 100 pounds of meat scrap.

When plenty of skim milk or butter-milk is available, the amount of meat scrap in the mash can be reduced one-half. In that way the farmer raising wheat, corn, oats and milk, can make up 200 pounds of laying mash by purchasing 50 pounds of meat scrap and 50 pounds of bran.

The home-grown mash is greatly improved by adding minerals in the form of 2 per cent ground limestone, 2 per cent bone meal, and 1 per cent fine table salt. The use of minerals tends to improve the strength and quality of the egg shells, thus avoiding the egg-eating habit in the flock, as well as the production of soft-shelled eggs. Some poultrymen believe that more minerals and less meat scrap will be the tendency in making egg mash within a few years. Their cost per pound is so small, considering their value, that they should not be omitted from the home-made mash.

Blindness in Ducks Is Blamed on Impure Water

When ducks have access to a lake, pond or river there are no cases of sore festering eyes which later may develop into blindness. The birds dip their heads deep into the water and the eyes are cleansed of any dirt or sticky feed that has adhered to them.

Ducks without a natural supply of water should be given their drinking water in deep dishes or crocks so that they can rinse out their eyes whenever they drink. This also tends to rinse the nostrils and prevents the clogging with feed which is serious if the bird catches cold about the same time.

Ducklings sometimes have colds which cause a sticky discharge from the eyes. The mucus can be absorbed with small wads of tissue paper and the eyes washed with witch hazel or boric acid solution. Deep drinking dishes will help the bird to take care of its eyes and nostrils and probably prevent the necessity of treatment.

Soft-Shelled Eggs Are Caused by Wrong Feed

Probably one of the most annoying things in the poultry business is the frequent laying of soft-shelled eggs by a group of hens, or even only one hen. It is a sign that something is unprofitably and radically wrong with the hens—something that should be righted immediately. And as for the eggs themselves, they are perfectly useless and merely represent a loss in good food.

In nine cases out of ten, a hen lays soft-shelled eggs because there is a lack of lime in her diet. This mineral is really pure egg-shell material. Therefore, its absence from the diet results in either thin-shelled eggs or eggs with no shell at all. Of course, calcium carbonate is generally present in the food and water given to the hen, but there is seldom enough to satisfy her needs.

Poultry Notes

The feeding of milk will help in the size and quality of egg.

Eggs should never be washed—washing spoils their keeping qualities.

Poultry meat has never been so low in price as to be unprofitable. Cull your flocks closely and cash in. Quit feeding the non-producers.

Poultry keepers who have used the all-mash method of feeding chicks and growing pullets may continue the method for laying pullets.

One of the advantages of the shed roof type of poultry house is that it is easier to keep warm. Any room with a high ceiling is likely to be drafty.

Tankage or sour milk must be fed if eggs are to be produced in satisfactory quantities. Too many hens are not laying simply because the farmer will not help them lay.

Electric lights may be used to advantage. A warm moist mash fed in the evening, especially in cold weather, may prove beneficial.

If chickens begin eating their eggs it is usually because they need starch. Purchase bulk laundry starch and put it in a dish in the coop.

Some hens do not eat enough oyster shell. The 2 per cent limestone helps to prevent soft-shelled eggs and the leg weakness which sometimes bothers hens in the spring.

Bird Natural Music

The biological survey says that a mocking bird's song is both natural and imitative. It has a good song of its own, but it is such an excellent mimic that it would rather imitate than sing its own song.

Is Your Tongue Coated in the Morning?

A coated tongue is a danger signal! It is a sign of those digestive disorders which lead to so many kinds of serious illness. And it is a sign that you need Tanlac. This good old reliable medicine has helped thousands who were physically wrecked from stomach and bowel troubles—who had "tried everything" in vain and about given up hope. Read what Mr. John C. Phillips of Eldridge Park, Trenton, N. J., says: "My stomach trouble kept getting worse in spite of my doctoring. Finally I had to give up work. The first bottle of Tanlac helped me. Now I can eat anything and am working every day."

That coated tongue tells you why your exertion tires you out; why you have pains in the bowels, gas, sour stomach, dizzy spells. See how the first bottle of Tanlac helps you.

Tanlac contains no mineral drugs. It is made of herbs, roots and nature's own medicines for the sick. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Your money back if it doesn't help you.

LAST NIGHT on the RADIO

Excellent late afternoon and good evening reception Tuesday, with a fine opportunity to learn about bread, mattresses, radio sets and many other things. The prize advertiser, however, is the one who holds forth on "the most beautiful" telling of a mechanical device that will make any nose a thing of beauty and a joy forever. Whether or not it cures sneezing was not stated.

CLUSTER FARMERS PLAN TO ATTEND MEETINGS

In Albany on the evening of January 17, the New York State Breeder's Association will begin its annual session with a meeting at the Ten Eyck hotel, at which several prominent speakers will appear.

It is proposed to make this meeting a gathering of all livestock breeders and owners, and will include not only those interested in production of our larger farm animals, but poultry as well. It is expected that at least two men of national reputation will be present.

This meeting will be followed on the morning of January 18 by the business session of the association. The same day the New York State Agricultural Society will hold its annual meeting and old-fashioned farm supper, while other organizations interested in other agricultural activities will convene for meetings and conferences.

Several farmers and others interested in farm problems from Ulster county are planning on attending.

Legion Auxiliary Dance.

The American Legion Auxiliary delightfully entertained its members and friends Tuesday evening at a private dance in the Memorial Building. Music was furnished by Ernie's orchestra. Mrs. George W. Potter and Mrs. C. J. Heischman acted as hostesses and Mrs. Frederick Snyder graciously presided at the punch bowl. Thirty-two couples were in attendance. The assembly was such a social and financial success that it was decided to entertain at a similar dance on Wednesday evening, February 15.

WHY World Continues Distrustful of Women

In the present Congress there are no women senators and only four women representatives. Of these three are the wives of former congressmen. One was elected while her husband was in prison for conspiracy to defraud the government. Two were elected to fill vacancies caused by the death of their husbands and have been re-elected. Only one woman now in the house, therefore, was originally elected on her own reputation and her own merits.

The Woman's Home Companion cites this as an indication that the world is still distrustful of women, and that equality of the sexes is a long task and hardly begun. Hundreds of laws still exist, it is pointed out, which discriminate either for or against women.

Recently in Florida married women were debarred from engaging in the real estate business unless they go to court and have themselves declared "free dealers." This is because married women are not responsible legally for their ordinary contracts, for misrepresentation or negligence. In the laws of every state, it is said, there is discrimination of the same sort which will require years of legislation to remedy.

Why All Sounds Don't Travel at Same Speed

It is strange that thunder can be heard over a distance of only ten or twelve miles, while artillery firing is often heard up to 150 miles.

The intensity of a sound depends upon the density of the air in which it is produced and not upon the density of the air in which it is heard. The farther up, the more the air diminishes in density. When thousands of feet above the earth a balloonist can hear sounds from the ground with remarkable clearness. But people on the ground cannot hear similar sounds from the balloon.

The conditions of the air during a thunderstorm are such as would tend to scatter and dissipate the sound waves. Gunfire is usually heard at great distances only when the air is comparatively calm, and it is not likely that it would be heard far during a thunderstorm.

Why Scoring by Fifteen

The method of scoring tennis by fifteens is very old; the reason of its invariability. Antonio Scario, to whose "Trattato della Palla" (1555) every historian of ball games is everlastingly indebted, speaks of this scoring as a commonplace in his time, and the author of the "Jeu Royal de la Paume" (1632) says: "The first difficulty is to know why we should count, as we have counted from time immemorial, 15, 30, 45 and then game." His successors are still as much in the dark as he was, though many ingenious suggestions as to the origin have been made. The use of 40 instead of 45 is comparatively modern, and hence is "a denix" anglicized.

Why Witch Wands Are Fakes

Doodling scientists are discredited by the bureau of mines, which denies that wands or other devices to discover mineral wealth beneath the earth's surface are more than pure fakes. Tien along comes the geographical survey and makes it even stronger. It declares no rod or other device is made by which the location of buried treasure can be determined. Yet thousands of persons believe in the witching process for finding water, and will continue to believe in it—Capper's Weekly.

American Indians Healthy

There is little evidence to show what disease prevailed among the American Indians before the coming of the white people. The condition of the skeleton remains, the testimony of early observers and the present state of some of the tribes in this regard warrant the conclusion that on the whole the Indian race was a comparatively healthy one. The United States bureau of American ethnology thinks that tuberculosis was rare if it ever occurred at all among the pre-Columbian Indians.

Why Slump in Dancing

Tennis and a general disgust with the gyrations of the new dances are blamed for a decided slump in the interest in dancing, say London teachers. They declare that parents in the exclusive West end are not permitting their children to learn the new steps. There has been formed a society, every member of which is pledged to dance only the fox trot. Instructors say that in summer this year tennis will have more devotees than dancing.

Why Indians Were Feathers

Feathers in the headdress of Indians were chiefly for ornamental purposes. Among the Indians on the Great Plains, according to the United States bureau of American ethnology, feathers in the hair indicated the individual's rank by their kind, number and manner of wearing. In some tribes the feathers represented the number of enemies the warrior had slain—Exchange.

Why Nightingale Sings

The nightingale sings at night to distract prowling enemies from the nest on the ground to himself perched safely in a tree.

Passes Up a Poor Fun

An American husband need for a separation from his wife because she made bad coffee. The judge must have been sorely tempted to make a remark about grounds for complaint—London Pictorial.

Harris Pleased With Kingston

General Contractor Who Completed High Pressure Gas Line From Kingston to Saugerties Appreciates Cooperation Extended Him.

Joseph L. Harris, general contractor, who completed the high pressure gas line between the gas manufacturing plant of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation in this city to the Saugerties town line, a distance of 7.5 miles, in 62 working days, will leave for his home in White Plains Friday. Mr. Harris, who has received many commendations for the completion of the job in record time, attributes his success to hearty cooperation received from officials here, both county and city. The contractor, who has traveled throughout the United States and its possessions doing many kinds of engineering work, classes Kingston as the most desirable community in which he has worked and has expressed his hearty appreciation for the cooperation given him.

In an advertisement in today's issue, Mr. Harris expresses his appreciation for the cooperation extended him by the Central Hudson, city and county officials and the business men of Kingston.

The building of the line was begun on August 14 and completed on November 15 by Mr. Harris under the direction of T. V. K. Swift of Poughkeepsie, resident engineer of the Central Hudson Corporation. The high pressure gas main with welded joints was purged on November 25 prior to sending the product through it on the day following. The four inch steel pipes with welded joints were laid in trenches two feet deep and are now carrying gas to Saugerties, which has a pressure of 60 pounds per square inch, making the capacity of the line at the pressure 720,000 cubic feet every twenty-four hours. Valves at every half mile point along the line insure service should the main break. To users not in the vicinity of the leak, "dip pots" and "blow offs" in low points along the line catch any condensation from the gas and make possible a continual flow without deterioration.

The Kingston-Saugerties high pressure gas line built by Mr. Harris is one of two such pieces of engineering accomplishments in this section of New York state, the other being in Westchester county, between Yonkers and White Plains. The eastern part of the United States as a whole has few such lines to conduct gas from one community to another. The western part of the country, especially California, where they have been used for approximately ten years, has numerous lines of the kind.

Mr. Harris admires the service plans of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation. He states that the interests of the product users are forever being looked after in the most efficient ways by the employees of the concern, who know their work in a most thorough way. The officials of the Central Hudson Corporation with whom the contractor had to do business were most obliging and cooperative at all times. He also admired the spirit of employees hired in Kingston.

Mr. Harris hopes to return to Kingston again this year to work on other jobs. He wishes that his absence from this community be of short duration so that he may return to do business among his many friends made here. Not only in a business way, however, is Mr. Harris impressed with the Colonial City, but with the social makeup. He was received with great favor in several clubs here upon coming to Kingston where he has spent many pleasant hours with the city's prominent business men.

Chicago Cubs To Start Early

Chicago, Jan. 11 (AP).—The desperate bid of Chicago's Cubs for the National League pennant in the mid-season race of 1927, is to be duplicated right from the fall of the flag in the 1928 season, President Veck and Manager McCarthy declare, with extra talent in those spots on the club which proved weakest last August.

The winter deals of the Cubs have been few in number but momentous in possibilities, beginning with the trade which brought Hazen "Kiki" Cuyler to the team in exchange for Sparky Adams. Manager McCarthy is the kind of a leader who could sell Grover Cleveland Alexander down the river at the height of his ability for the mere price of a drafted rookie. He said he had no fear of Cuyler's temperament, or whatever it was that caused all the rumpus while "Kiki" polished the bench at Pittsburgh during the 1927 world series.

Cuyler said he was delighted to be taken up by the Cubs, and his acquisition gave the team six heavy hitting outfielders, Wilson, Stephenson, Webb, Heathcote and Kelly being the others.

To strengthen the pitching corps, where the strain of the pennant chase really caused the beginning of the slump, the Cubs bought the 1927 strike out king of all the leagues in the country, Pat Malone of Minneapolis. He turned back 214 batters last year. Malone's purchase makes six pitchers figured to be ready for regular turns—Charlie Root, who won more games than any other major league twirler last year; Hal Carlson, Sheriff Blake, Guy Bush and Percy Jones. Back of these is the veteran Art Nehf, who is being primed as the relief pitcher.

To fill the place of Sparky Adams at second, the Cubs already had a string on Freddy Maguire, a youngster from Toledo with a little major league seasoning, and a felder expected to rank with the best in the game when he gets accustomed to major league diamonds. For second and third base, the Cubs have a flock of candidates, and assuming that Maguire will go in at second, there is admittedly a big question mark hovering over the third bag.

Fort Wayne to Play Kingston at Armory Tonight

Morgue's Quintet From Fort Wayne Will Battle With Local Club Here Tonight—Morgue's Quintet Expected to Give Contest.

The biggest event in the history of Kingston's 1927-28 basketball team will occur tonight when Mickey Husta will lead the champions of the Metropolitan League against the Fort Wayne Warriors, managed by Frank Morgue. The local armory is expected to be filled with fans to see the Kingston quintet give battle to the American League Club. The tilt will start at 9 o'clock after a preliminary between the Knottwits Big Five and the Hippobobles. It is needless to say that the interest of the fans will be aroused from the initial whistle until the final bell. With such men as Benny Morgue and Willie McElwain on the Fort Wayne team and Kizling and Makofski on the local quintet action will be started immediately. George Yerkes and Mickey Husta scheduled to play the guard positions for the Kingston team have held down the jobs in good fashion throughout the season and undoubtedly will play harder tonight against the big time club. Husta always makes it interesting for every center who opposes him and Chadwick will undoubtedly lead the Kingston pivot man a very energetic player. Shimek and Kogler will do the guarding for the Fort Wayne team.

The Morgue quintet recently dropped two games to the Celtics and are anxious to swell their win column. Morgue will probably have a strong attack planned for his men when they take the floor tonight and Mickey Husta will have to use every trick he knows to stay with the fast-stepping Fort Wayne Hoovers. From present indications fans will come from all the surrounding communities, including Catskill, where the sport is followed by many. To see the big battle, Kingston fans will have to get to the drill shed early to make sure of a seat.

Riconda to Play With Brooklyn

Former Kingston Basketball Player To Make Third Try in Big League—Purchased by Brooklyn for Considerable Sum.

Harry Riconda, who represented Kingston on the basketball court for a short time this season and well known ace of former years' Metropolitan League teams, will get his third chance to make good in the major league this summer. "Ric" purchased for a considerable sum and trading of players, is expected to play a big hand in the destinies of the Brooklyn team when the diamond game season opens.

Riconda, product of the sand lots of Corona, Queens, although known in the Metropolitan district only for his failure to get along in the big leagues has been doing big time circuits for some time. When but 17 years of age he was engaged by New Haven of the Eastern League upon recommendation of Tommy Clark, former Cincinnati catcher. After playing for a season with the club he decided that for a youngster of 17 the semi pro ranks are more desirable than Class A league ball so he sold his services to the Bushwicks and the Dougherty Silk Sox for the next four years. He was recognized as a flashy young infielder by big league scouts after being reinstated with the New Haven line in 1922 and the Athletics took him over before the end of the season.

His dependable style, recognized by Connie Mack, gave him the job on third sack during the 1923 season. During the season he used the willow advantageously for an average of 275. The following year Riconda lost interest in baseball after being called home to take part in a search for his brother, who it was reported, was lost in a boat off Block Island. The youth was never found and after returning to his club Harry was not used in the lineup. His interest in the game was revived in 1924 when he was shipped to Portland and had a good season. In the fall the Braves paid a good price for him.

Harry became popular as a felder and stickman during the training season of 1926. He was looming high as a recruit who would make good during the season but before he had been playing a week after the opening of the season he broke his left leg above the ankle. The accident which occurred in a wilding mix-up at Philadelphia put him out of the game for the year.

After his injury healed Milwaukee claimed him last winter and was well paid for before midsummer several major league clubs were bidding for his services. He was a big factor in the makeup of the Milwaukee nine's infield.

Huff Sees Athletic Upheaval

AN UPHEAVAL in college athletics is in the offing, George Huff, athletic director at the University of Illinois, has concluded to Western Conference coaches at Chicago.

The upheaval will come, he said, with the announcement of the findings of the Carnegie foundation, now investigating conditions under which athletic departments of various big schools operate. Huff's warning, voiced at a meeting of coaches, was supported by President David Kinley of the University of Illinois, who detailed the evils to which college athletes, especially football, are susceptible. Commercialism, high salaries to coaches and overexcitement, in his opinion, are overemphasized, but drinking before, after and during games was termed unfortunate, and he urged that abstemiousness of all of the schools undertake the abolition of the offending practice.

Doctor Kinley said he understands the Carnegie investigation will furnish a list of the alleged evils of athletics without furnishing names of the offenders.

"I favor naming of all dates, places and concealing nothing. If there is anything wrong at Illinois we surely want to clean house," Doctor Kinley said.

Director Huff said the question of purity in Western Conference athletics was discussed at a meeting of coaches and directors and an agreement was reached to exchange information and determine facts on any rumors.

Win Record as Coaches but Never Played Game

Tutts has produced two outstanding football coaches who never played the game in college competition—Frank Murray, who has fashioned some remarkably fine teams at Marquette university, and Arthur Sampson, who developed the eleven that will be remembered as one of the college's greatest teams.

The success of Murray and Sampson has its parallel in baseball. Joe McCarthy, the manager of the Chicago Cubs, never played major league baseball, yet he is regarded as a good manager. Frank Seelyer, manager of the old Doves, never played a game at all, yet he was a good manager. Seelyer's attempts at catching a ball were ridiculous, but managers and coaches do not have to play the game. It's a case of do as I say and not as I do.

Dates for Olympic Try-Outs Are Made Public

The program of tryouts to determine America's representatives in the principal sports of the 1928 Olympic games at Amsterdam, Holland, includes the following:

Track and Field—Final trials at Harvard stadium, Boston, July 6-7, in conjunction with national championships; preceded by district tryouts, held not later than June 23, at New York, Dallas, Detroit, Cincinnati, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, Ore.; Lawrence, Kan.; or Iowa City, Atlanta or Birmingham, and Denver. Events on metric scale, as in Olympics.

Rowing—Final trials, July 6-7, on Schuylkill river, Philadelphia, for all seven or Olympic events and at Olympic distance of 2,000 meters.

Boxing—Final trials in conjunction with national championships at Boston, probably in May.

Wrestling—Final trials in conjunction with national championships, at Grand Rapids, Mich., late in June or first week in July.

Swimming—Final men's trial at Detroit and women's tryouts at New York, probably late in June or early in July; men's diving tryouts at San Francisco, in conjunction with national men's championships early in June. Water polo tryouts at Chicago, in conjunction with national men's indoor championships.

Gymnastics—Final trials, together with national championships, at New York in May.

Marathon—Final tryouts at Boston in conjunction with annual Boston A. A. Marathon, April 19.

Tony Lazzeri Is Best of All Utility Stars

Manager Miller Huggins of the world champions says he regards Tony Lazzeri not only the most versatile but also the most valuable utility player in the majors.

Last season Lazzeri, inside of one month, played three positions in the Yankee infield, second, short and third base.

"He's admittedly the best second sacker in the league," continues Huggins, "and incidentally has no peer at short or third. He would be as outstanding at either of these positions as he is at second if he made them his choice for a regular berth."

While it isn't generally known, Lazzeri won fame in the minors as a shortstop. He was shifted to second base because New York at the time had Mark Koenig, who could play the shortstop position only.

He started as a catcher in his kid days and at some time or other has played every position on the diamond. Manager Huggins had intended to let him work one inning at each position after the pennant was clinched last season, but for some reason changed his mind.

Young and Old Mountains

In America there are mountains in various ages. Geologists say the LaSalle mountains of Canada are the oldest, the Rockies the youngest; the Appalachians have been lifted up three times and worn away.

Rogers Hornsby Also Surprised

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 11 (AP).—It was a highly surprised Rogers Hornsby who listened to the telephone announcement last night that he had been traded to the Boston Braves by the New York Giants. Disbelief and astonishment mingled in his voice as he talked to newspapermen who gave him the first news of the sensational move.

A telegram from Judge Emil E. Fuchs, president of the Braves, later confirmed the trade and Hornsby, apparently seeking a reason for the move, said "maybe they're trying to build up the Boston club."

"There has been nothing wrong that I know of," declared the star second baseman, when asked if there was any friction between him and the New York club. "I thought I was in pretty strong with the Giants. I figured I had a pretty good year and naturally I'm as astounded as anyone over my transfer."

CENTRAL HUDSON MEN TO FORM BOWLING LEAGUE

An Inter-Division League will be formed by the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation workers in the near future which will comprise teams from Kingston, Poughkeepsie, Newburgh and several other surrounding communities. A schedule is being drawn up and it is expected that games will be played every Saturday on the alleys in each place.

Tonight there will be a practice contest at the "Y" alleys between the local Central Hudson men and the Newburgh division. Harris, Hallenbeck, Peters, Johnson, Reis and Rieman will represent the local division, while the down-river city will be represented by O'Neill, Ferguson, Foster, Cochrane and Hangley.
